Nat King Cole Generation Hope Raises Funds for Music Education During a Music Listening Party at the Conrad Hilton

Miami, FL – Supporters of Nat King Cole Generation Hope, a non-profit organization that supports music education in South Florida Schools, gathered at The Conrad Hilton for an evening of music listening. The event was hosted by Timolin and Casey Cole, the youngest twin daughters of recording legend Nat King Cole, and Brion Ross, president of Verde Entertainment.

Latin music sensation Nestor Torres, Dwyane Wade Sr., and nearly 100 supporters of the Foundation enjoyed the listening and cocktail party that featured newly-released music from Nat King Cole.

“We are so grateful to organizer Brion Ross and the team at The Conrad for hosting this unforgettable evening,” said Timolin Cole. “The guests had the opportunity to learn how the Foundation helps further music education in South Florida schools, continuing the legacy of our father and leading children toward a lifetime of music appreciation.”

Casey Cole added, “We are working closely with school administrators in Miami-Dade, Broward and Palm Beach Counties to determine needs in each district and we will soon be making an announcement regarding a Miami-area school. We are grateful to the supporters who attended the party; their donations help tremendously in our efforts to provide musical instruments, field trips and other opportunities for students.”

Cole’s youngest twin daughters, Casey and Timolin launched the Foundation after learning of budget cuts in South Florida public schools. Nat King Cole Generation Hope was created to provide funding for music education in South Florida, reaching children with the greatest need and fewest resources of all ages, ethnic backgrounds and diversities. The Foundation will help to provide musical instruments, field trips, and seminars, as well as instruction in composition, songwriting and recording arts.

NKC Generation Hope, Inc. has been established as a 501©(3) non-profit organization in South Florida. For additional information regarding the Foundation, please visit: www.natkingcofoundation.org.
